

GERMANY MERKEL ROBOT

German Chancellor Angela Merkel touches robot 'Bruno', a regular participant of the Robot Soccer World Cup (RoboCup), during the third 'National IT Summit' in Darmstadt, Germany, 20 November 2008. Bruno was developed by the Darmstadt University of Technology and plays for the

'Darmstadt Dribblers' team. About 700 attendees discuss the future of the German Information Technology (IT) branche, green IT, secure Internet and the application of Information Communication Technology (ICT) in both civil service and the health care system. The German ICT branche seeks to find ways to overcome the current economic crisis and establish itself among the world's leading industries.
